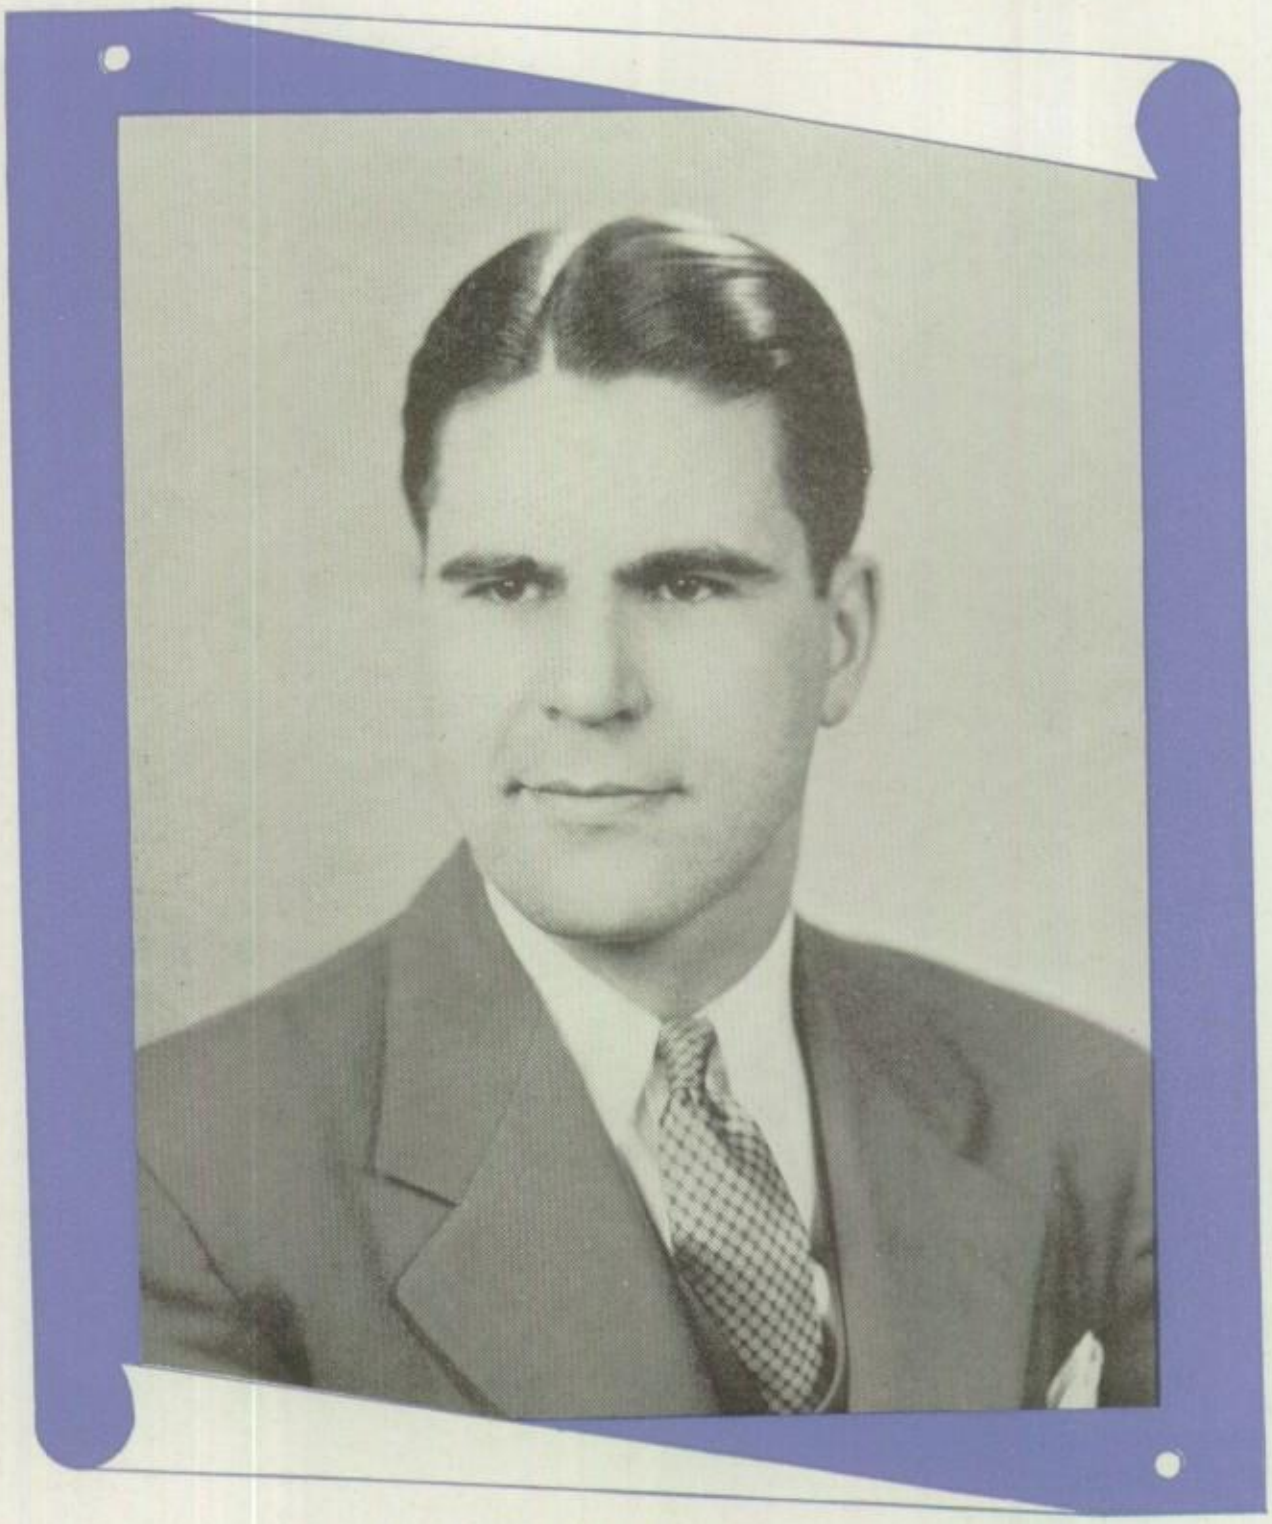
FOR PEACE

Winning the war requires sacrifice on the part of every citizen. To win the peace we must combine within ourselves understanding, broadmindedness, cooperation, brotherhood, sportsmanship, and ambition. Let us do our part in sacrificing our time, efforts, and money to this all-important cause of winning both the war and the peace.

DEDICATION



To Mr. LeRoy L. Pitkin the class of 1942 is indebted for his playing such a vital part in the success of its activities. To the senior class he has given guidance, understanding, and cooperation to the fullest extent. With affection and enthusiasm the seniors of '42 dedicate "The Kenitorial" to their senior class adviser, Mr. Pitkin.

Those "in the know" in Kenmore Senior High School realize that there is an important group of people working to formulate school policies and direct its activities, a group little seen by the average student, the Board of Education. This group receives the inspiration for many recreational and educational advantages which are later carried out by the school officials, whose part in the matters is not a small one.

In this, the second year in the new school, the administration is finding that the students are acquiring again the feeling of school spirit which was lost momentarily last year when new regulations went into effect. On the whole, the fact that most students now think of the new school as "home" is due to the combined efforts of the faculty, school officials, and the board of education.

FACULTY

In this year of national emergency the faculty of Kenmore Senior High School has found itself unusually busy. The Kenmore Teachers Association has had an especially active year with a member of the K.H.S. faculty, Mrs. Gertrude M. Chittenden, as president.

In addition to the regular faculty meetings and special departmental discussions, many members of the faculty participated in the national war effort by not only taking useful courses, but in some cases teaching them. Dr. Robert W. Walton, medical supervisor, taught first aid classes, while Mr. Carl Baisch, Mr. Theodore Siekmann, and Mr. Roland Gladieux taught science classes in civilian defense. In cooperation with defense work, Mr. Russell Bentz, Mr. George Dobson, and Mr. Carl Baisch taught vocational classes in the national program of which Mr. Lynn Nichols is the head. The women teachers have also been active. Miss Edith Britton, Miss Virginia Carey, and Miss Mollie Jones took the Red Cross Motor Corps Course which not only trained them to drive ambulances, but also taught them to take care of the mechanical parts of the automobile. More than seventy-five per cent of the faculty took the ten-weeks' Red Cross course. The teachers were instructed in bandaging, artificial respiration, and general first aid treatment.

Pioneers in what at first might be considered the humorous side of the national emergency were Miss Marie Kauffman and Mr. Wesley Snyder, who pedaled their bicycles to school.

BROTHERHOOD

Peace Triumphant

Dedicated to the members of the faculty and to the former students of Kenmore Senior High School who are now with the armed forces of the United States.

For us, no calm, untroubled world
Waits unsure footsteps. Flag still furled
Our legions come; we dare not wait.
This is our heritage, our fate.
For us the battle fronts will call,
A few will falter, many fall,
But help will come from God above
To win the freedom that we love.
Oppression conquered, victory won,
Our battle shall have but begun,
We'll fight for peace that will endure,
A peace that's lasting, just, secure;
And from this peace shall spring anew
Those things we live for, sure and true.
For though unsteady, we are strong,
Our world shall not be troubled long.

—MARJORIE J. ALLEN

SENIOR OFFICERS

CLASS HISTORY

For the last few billions of years a strange change of climate has invariably taken place in the northern latitudes of this terrestrial globe after a certain period of winter. This transformation is called spring and is accompanied by a variety of signs such as warm breezes, robins, marbles, and a trend toward amourousness in the young men. But to the seniors of Kenmore High School it means that something of much greater significance is in the offing; namely, graduation. In this position the members of the class of '42 now find themselves, and, realizing it, they mentally lean back in their easy chairs, put on their slippers, and philosophize on their varied achievements of the last three years.

After a glorious and soul-satisfying vacation as graduates of junior high school, we found ourselves thrust into the company of mental and physical giants who were called by us poor sophomores — juniors and seniors. With all due respect, this attitude soon changed.

Then the organizing of the class began. Home room officers were chosen, and the following class-officers were elected: James Pilkey, president; James Coleman, vice president; Don Freudenberger, secretary; and Virginia Coffman, treasurer. Previously, the activities of the sophomore class had been limited to rather minor ventures. However, the class of '42 resented this custom and inaugurated a truly sophomore institution, the sophomore hop, the initial success of which has been illustrated by its subsequent yearly appearances.

After vacation, we returned to school in September. But wait! Should I merely say school? It was a brand new building, the inside of which students and teachers alike were eager to see. In the fall of that year the pageant dedicating the new school was staged. Much of our enthusiasm was, of course, caused by our natural elation over being juniors. The officers whom we chose as our representatives for the coming year were: James Pilkey, president; Clyde Musty, vice president; Virginia Coffman, secretary; and Don Freudenberger, treasurer. Also, we were fortunate to have Mr. LeRoy Pitkin as class adviser.

(Right) Richard Simpkins and Carmelita Fisher, leads in the 1942 senior play, portrayed a German immigrant couple in America.

CLASS

The first of the class activities for our junior year was the stage show directed by Richard Simpkins and Wilson Shaw with music by Dan Bogart's orchestra. The audience was treated to a combination of farce and spectacle which, if applause can be used as a meter, was entertaining to students and faculty alike. Another success was registered by the class of '42 when it presented "The Scarlet Pimpernel." It was the first class-sponsored motion picture shown at the school.

But the climax of the junior year is indisputably the Junior Prom. With Virginia Coffman as chairman and marine life as theme, the class of '42 outdid itself in presenting an evening of pleasure. Virginia Coffman was crowned queen and Don Freudenberger, king in the ceremonies. By universal agreement, "a good time was had by all."

The year was soon over, however, and after a summer of rest and rejuvenation we prepared to enter the last portion of our high school life. Students look forward to the senior year for with it comes the culmination of participation in all the activities and organizations. In this frame of mind we re-entered those classic portals and soon chose as our officers: James Pilkey, president; Virginia Coffman, vice president; Don Freudenberger, secretary; and Steven Lilak, treasurer.

In early November preparations were begun for the Senior Carnival and it was a common sight to see many a worthy, over-worked senior muttering to himself as he ambled along the corridor. Ethel Stevens and Janet Holland, joint chairmen, endeavored to organize the various divisions into a well-conducted program while scores of other perspiring seniors strove valiantly to master their respective parts. When the memorable evening arrived, crowds filled the corridors, overflowed the side-shows, and, in general, gave the ticket takers little rest. At the stage show Dick Shepard, who ably filled the role of master of ceremonies, had the pleasure of introducing the queen of the carnival, June Reimann. The festivities of the evening were concluded with dancing to the catchy, rhythms of Jack Spencer's orchestra. Other winter class activities were the Christmas party and the talent show—movie program presented in February, the latter being under the direction of Betty Hughes and Wilson Shaw.

At first no one would commit himself, but finally the senior play committee came out of its huddle and announced meekly enough that "The American Way" by Kaufman and Hart was to be presented. Those quiet words were more portentous than they sounded, for the production would require a cast of more than one hundred, and scores of costumes would be needed. Nevertheless, through the fine acting of Richard Simpkins and Carmelita Fisher, the two leads, and the unceasing energy and directing ability of Miss Eve Strong, "The American Way" was a rousing success.

Each year the senior class has the opportunity of choosing the seniors who have been outstanding during their three years in the school, and this year their opinions were as follows:

Just a lot of cut-ups! That was the committee in charge of decorations for the 1941 Senior Carnival.

HISTORY

Mr. LeRoy L. Pitkin, senior class adviser, and "friend," both looked very happy at the 1941 "under-sea" Junior Prom.

The final activity of our high school career was the Senior Supper Dance under the general direction of the officers. The success of the evening was insured by Jim Campbell's quips as toastmaster and the dancing in the gym later in the evening. The proposed class gift, at the time of this writing, was a portable public address unit.

Whether the course of the next few billions of years will be altered by our graduation, I do not know, but it is a certainty that the next few years hold great changes and revelations for the class of '42.

CLASS

Good afternoon, folks, here we are at the ringside of justice, bringing you a play by play description of the state versus Bill Guiney —the question under discussion being whether to let him swing and sway or walk away. The accused is charged with sniping tires from Tootsie toys. His accomplices are Brownie Calloway, Webbie Downs, and Al Hemstreet, three of the chief witnesses on the stand here today. District Attorney Pierce is coming to the front. She's speaking to the defending lawyer Bud Hughes. Words are passing back and forth between them. D. A. Pierce is returning to her seat to confer with her assistant, John Hutchison. Get ready, folks, here comes the honorable Judge Hood, the towering pillar of justice in the hall of crime today. The court arises and the trial begins. At this point, ladies and gentlemen, we would like to remind you that Doctor Hintermeier's Hasty-Tasty Health Vitamizer with locked-in flavor (a patent invented by John Littlefield, new chief of staff of the Stetson, Sterner, Spoor, and Jones Health Institute) will give you that boost to happiness—that glow of effervescence—that bouncing build-up to buoyancy. Buy some today at your corner drug store. But wait—

"Where were you at the time of the crime?"

"Purchasing egg cups at Dotzour's Department store from the salesgirl, Jane Hollisten, while Cynthia Davis played the cash register."

"Did you notice anything suspicious about the defendant?"

"Yes, his bow tie was crooked, and he was conversing with Jack Rhiem, the notorious jelly bean sniper of 1925."

Lawyer Hughes comes to the stand with the glint of justice in his eye. "Are you an acquaintance of Clyde Goff's? Weren't you both employed by Russell Moffat in his Department of Public Sanitation along with the accused? Wasn't it true that Mr. Guiney was a clean and upright citizen?"

"Yes, he had to be with his type of occupation."

"That is all, step down."

The court applauds. A wonderful performance of a man doing his duty to his country. And now, while we're waiting for the second witness to be called, we'll describe to you people of the radio audience some of the renowned figures in the courtroom. Speaking of sports, Bob Morton, famous golf pro, and Ray George, the tennis champion of 1953, are viewing with interest this spectacular event. Seated with them is another of the kings of sport, Don Freudenberger, international swimming champ, and his co-champion, Florence Hanford. Alva Score, the virtuoso of the violin, is here with Jean Smith, Hollywood dancing star. Here's a scoop! Betty Smith, English authoress, entered just ahead of Cy Penley, the latest dancing sensation of Eliason's Elite, a popular rendezvous. (For new pep and vigor in your dance step, try Dr. Hintermeier's Hasty-Tasty Health Vitamizer. We guarantee results!) Ah, but folks, the second witness is rising; he is approaching the stand, and here comes the question—

"Robert Shafer, tell the jury just what happened the night of this crime."

"Well, sir, Elmer Rohring and I were riding home in my rocket ship after attending the local show when we noticed the defendant acting suspiciously! Suddenly, he stooped and removed the tires from a Tootsie toy that was parked by a nearby begonia bush. He then progressed down the street, stopping only once to chat with Wilma Powell and Betty Jane Streeter, who were on their way home from their bridge club."

"All right. Cross examine."

"What type of people did the defendant associate with?"

"Oh, he was always seen with society, sir. He was friendly with Dorothy Buck, the Metropolitan Opera star, with the fashion stylist, M. J. Rapp, and with Betty Hughes, the concert pianist. He also knew Jim Coleman, the track star, and Pat Stone, the well-known radio commedienne."

PROPHECY

"That should be proof of the defendant's character. Thank you, step down."

And there, friends of our large radio audience, is the brilliant testimony of a four star witness! But you too may be rated with four stars if you take Dr. Hintermeier's Hasty-Tasty Health Vitamizer now —before it is too late. You too can be the life of the witness chair with this wonderful tonic. Don't delay; today is the day! Back to the trial—

Dr. Robert Usher, the greatly famed prophet of future happenings, is being summoned before the court. Dr. Usher gained his reputation several years ago through his amazing foresight in predicting such events as the fact that Betty Jo Anderson was fated to become a model, that Eleanor Stinson would become a fashion stylist, that Natalie MacBride would be a popular vocalist, and Dorothy Rickert was to be a leading New York child psychologist. How right he was. Such a mind! But Dr. Usher is about to speak. He also testifies to the excellent character of the accused. And now, Judge Hood is addressing the jury, that honorable group,—among them the uncomparable Robert Winstel, Robert Whitmore, Peter Strong, Donald Rae (who is the editor of the fashion magazine for men), Patricia Walker, Robert Swift, Earl Noble, and Peggy Huggins. And now a sixth witness is being called to the stand. Whatta case, whatta case, and here are the first words of D. A. Pierce.

"Jean Rawe, please tell the jury exactly what you witnessed on the night of the crime."

"A group of my friends and I were walking down the street. Betty Bushnell, Elsie Brown, Mary Jane Freeman, and Mary Alice Foley were among them. Suddenly, the honorable Raymond Fretz, mayor of the metropolis of Kenmore, came across the street toward us. He and Jack Dissington, Dave Davies, Robert Comeau, Joe D'Ingillo, Joe Handzo, and Albert Laufer, several of the local police, were on a man hunt in search of William Guiney, who had been seen sniping the tires with Don Kenney. Gloria Merrill, an innocent bystander, dropped from exhaustion, and she was immediately removed from the scene to Lindsay's Lunchroom. The rest of the crowd returned home."

"Thank you, Miss Rawe, here is one of Dr. Hintermeier's Hasty-Tasty Health Vitamizer Pills, guaranteed to give you pep, poise, and personality plus. Eat it on your way home. "

William Guiney, the defendant, has become very upset with the preceding testimony, and now this redheaded rogue crumples to the floor in a state of complete collapse. Is there a doctor in the house? Oh, Dr. William Pfonner is rushing to the side of the victim. Assisted by his charming nurses, Bernice Reid and Mary Secic, the doctor revives him sufficiently to continue with the trial. Ah, the struggle with justice has proved to be too much stress and strain for the poor chap. Such a shame! He should use Dr. Hintermeier's Hasty-Tasty Health Vitamizer. Its soothing qualities are restful to the innermost depths of the soul. Ah, speaking of souls, I see Dr. Hamilton, public health worker, who is lecturing throughout this vast expanse of nation, the United States of America. Another member of the audience is Margaret Cochrane, who received recognition during the last World War for her daring exploits on the battlefield, again being photographed by one of the court photographers.

The last testimony has been given. The jury is adjourning, and Judge Hood is leaving his seat of justice to retire to his chambers to await the verdict. If you, the members of this radio audience, have enjoyed this latest experiment in radio, entitled the "Scene of the Crime," presented by Health with Hintermeier, tune in again next week at this same time when we shall present the final episode of this dramatic and sensational case. This is Clarence Whitmore, reminding you that when you vitamize with Dr. Hintermeier's Hasty-Tasty Health Vitamizer, you prolong life indefinitely. This is station KHS of the Blue and White Network, now signing off.

CLASS WILL

Being in possession of all our faculties and having duly considered the gravity and solemnity of this manuscript, we, the class of 1942, do hereby bequeath, entrust, and will to those who are left behind, these few of our priceless possessions, having complete confidence that they will enjoy the same loving care which has been tendered them during the short years that we have passed within these classic portals; that is to say:

First: We direct that all our just debts and graduation expenses be paid.

Second: We bequeath to any junior having a gray jacket, Pat Johnson's and Janet Holland's slacks so that she might have a suit with two pairs of pants.

Third: Don Freudenberger and Carl Fenwick donate their swimming ability to the fairer sex to be used in case of floods or heavy rain falls. Tom Duddleston and Willy Shaw add a pair of retread water wings to be given to the incoming swimming team.

Fourth: Corky Bell, Rich Shepard, and Carl Hamilton leave their judiciously written handbook, "What the Well Dressed Man-about-School Should Wear," to those undergraduates aspiring to hold their present title of "Best Dressed in K.H.S."

Fifth: For those of you who have lost faith in love in this world of strife and struggle, we leave the memory of Betty Meech and Robert Mould.

Sixth: Clyde Musty wills his mathematical genius to future class treasurers. His latest book, "Managing the Financial Affairs of the 1942 Kenitorial" or "Why I Live on Forest Avenue," may be easily procured absolutely free of charge by merely sending us your name and address and enclosing the top of your local newsboy plus ten cents to cover the cost of mailing.

Seventh: To all those wishing popularity, we leave the vivacious personalities of Virginia Cole, Faye Tanner, and Natalie Clum.

Eighth: Betty Brunswick, Mae Kendall, Mary Alice Foley, Dorothy Bowman, and Janet Dick leave the secret of their energy to the class of '43. It is attributed to a large bowl of "Boopsies" every morning for breakfast.

Ninth: To all future biologists Patty Millian, Wilma Powell, Peggy Dagg, and Ethel Juranics entrust their most recent text, "The Lives and Loves of the Amoebae," with colored illustrations by "Professor" Gladieux.

Tenth: As a patriotic gesture, Lamoyne Blessing, Ray Bartholomew, George Toth, and Clarence Boebel leave the worn-out copies of "Super Man" and "Little Orphan Annie" plus dance slingers, drawings, rubber erasers, and chewing gum found in the lockers to National Defense.

Eleventh: Allen Albert wills his nine lines from the senior play in the following manner: the four in the first act, including "Good evening, Mr. Gunther," to the John Barrymores of the sophomore class, and the four from the second act beginning with "It's true, Mrs. Gunther," to the Ronald Regans of the junior class. The one remaining line is to be left to posterity.

Twelfth: Chuck Austin and Cy Penley hand down two pairs of saddle shoes, well-worn from dancing, to any who feel capable of filling them.

Thirteenth: To a lonesome sophomore, Marge Schuster and Shirley Walter leave their ability to get along with people—especially Jimmy and Don.

Fourteenth: To those juniors finding it difficult to smile in the face of Monday morning we leave Bea Hett's undying enthusiasm and Harriet Mallory's attitude of "It's all in a day's work."

Fifteenth: To a careless sophomore who never seems to have enough time to finish his homework, we leave the knack for getting it done inspired by Bernice Lucas and Carol Argus. If their system fails, might we suggest one of Bob Morton's air-tight excuses?

Sixteenth: We leave to the sophomore class our ideas for Glamour Girl Number 1 of K.H.S. She should have the voice of Bettie Yoder or Mary Jane Rapp, the horsemanship of Betty Davidson, Jean Landers, and Florence Salmon, and the sports ability of Betty Marshall, Jennie Seibold and Flossy Burlington. In addition to any one, or all, of these we add Doris McKernan's fascinating eyelashes, June Mitchell's gorgeous red hair, and Ruthie Larson's contagious smile. As for personality, likeability, sweetness, and spontaneous wit we carefully select Margaret Cochrane, Fern Reissig, Sally Nelson, and Phyl Decker.

To escort our dream girl to the "club" we leave our formula for the ideal man. Add equal parts of Paul Goundry's friendliness, Carl Hamilton's "smoothness," Don Lyon's "personality plus," Ed Burn's agreeability, Warren Peterson's knack of sleeping in study hall, and Carl Chotoff's "line" to a full portion of Steve Lilak's physique.

In Witness Whereof, we have here unto subscribed our names, the seventeenth day of April, in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-two.

POST GRADUATES

With the Kenmore Senior High School year drawing to a close, twelve of the original forty-eight post graduates of Miss Mollie Jones' home room yet remain.

Some students plan to further their education by attending college. Some will start this summer; others, in the fall. Many of Miss Jones' students who started school last fall have gone to work in vital defense plants. Several of last fall's P. G.'s now working in defense plants are John Paar, Don Reichert, John Ehinger and Dick Ebling. Among the girls Kathryn Cerato, Eleanor Feathers, and Pat Styer are taking up hospital nursing. The students now planning to enter college after June are Louise Fairbanks, Tom Lauderdale, Ralph Merkle, John Mundie, Herbert Schultz, Sally Hooper, Nancy Payson, and Bob Wiedemann. Others plan to begin working immediately after school closes.

During the first part of last December, the post graduate home room aroused the school by starting a knitting fad for boys, who were seen going through the halls with large balls of yarn tucked safely in their shirt fronts. The P. G.'s completed a colorful afghan which was then contributed to the American Red Cross.

An undefeated post graduate combination captured the home room basketball title. The final game was won by the score of 63-26. Such other sports as football, basketball, swimming and golf were well represented on the varsity squads by the P. G.'s.

In addition to originating a knitting fad for boys in Kenmore High and contributing defense workers to Uncle Sam, the post graduates have helped out with the country's defense in other ways. The home room was among the first of the whole school in pledges for the United States Defense Saving Stamps and Bonds. Many of the boys built various model airplanes which were sent to the armed forces of the United States government where they were to be used for anti-aircraft purposes and study. John Wild led the parade in this field. At Bennett High School the emergency service corps training course was also completed by John. Harriet Arnold completed training in a standard and advanced course in first aid. On Tuesday, April 21, the home room had a discussion concerning what the school boys and girls might do to better our vital defense.

This year is the first in which the P. G.'s have had regularly assigned seats in the new auditorium. After a few weeks of indefinite seating, they were placed in the balcony.

JUNIOR OFFICERS

Climaxing a memorable year amid a futuristic atmosphere, the junior class held its semi-formal prom on the evening of May 29 in the Kenmore Senior High School gymnasium. The colorful decorations which followed the theme, "The Whirl of Tomorrow," were wholly in charge of art instructor Mr. Arthur Lindberg and a committee of juniors. Very "hep" music was provided by Dave Cheskin and his well-known B.B.C. orchestra. The highlight of the evening came when the grand march was led by Queen Carol Bauer and King Joseph Kirst. Sparkling cups were presented to this royal couple as mementos of their reign over the annual junior prom. Following a precedent established several years ago, the prom was free to all juniors and seniors and their dates.

But what preceded this gala affair, the culmination of all junior activities? Plans for the year's program were soon under way after officers were elected by the class in September. Those selected to head the class were Roger Moore, president; Patricia Enright, vice president; Ann Adams, secretary; and Walter Voisinet, treasurer. Mr. George Barna was again to act as class adviser.

While football was at its height, the juniors sold collapsible cardboard megaphones which added to the atmosphere of games and pep assemblies. These were printed in the royal blue and white of Kenmore and had a complete schedule of the football games on the reverse side. With the money collected from this sale, the class bought an album of Christmas records which they presented to the school. These were played over the public address system during the holiday season.

Evening theatre parties have been held before in the high school auditorium, but this year something new was added. In addition to offering the film, "The Count of Monte Cristo," which stars Robert Donat and Elissa Landi, the class introduced a companion stage production. An "old-fashioned" minstrel show was given along with various other vaudeville acts. A comedy monologue, the songs of a southern belle, and the harmonies of a trio were included in the latter. This innovation seemed to meet with everyone's approval, for both sophomore and senior classes followed this general procedure when the time came for them to present their shows.

On the eve of the Lincoln Day holiday, February 11, the juniors gave an informal dance in the high school gymnasium. Everyone was invited to cut capers and stomp around to the music of Bill Davey and his band.

And there it is, the story of the junior class. Although limited in its activities this year, it crowded a full measure of enjoyment into its program. Now the members of the junior class are looking forward to next year, when they will become the graduates of 1943.

"Beau Geste," a stirring movie of the foreign legion, starring Gary Cooper, Ray Milland, and Robert Preston, was shown at the sophomore theatre party, held at Kenmore Senior High School January 21. In addition to this picture several stage acts were put on with the theme of a traveling vaudeville troupe. More than a thousand students and others witnessed the singing, dancing, comedy, and specialty acts which were presented. Members of the Boys' Letter Club acted as ushers for this party. Tickets were sold through the sophomore home rooms. The show, which was under the direction of Mr. T. Francis McLaughlin, was termed "very successful" by Bob Markham, class president.

The Irish blood in Kenmore High School students was brought out when the St. Patrick's Day Dance was held March 19 by the class of '44. Preparations for this dance, held in the K.H.S. gym, were under the direction of Kay Bush. Bill Davey and his orchestra supplied the music.

When it came to choosing a prince and princess to rule over the soph hop, Peter Vogt and Nancy Robinson were selected. At the hop, they led the grand march, which ended at the throne, where they were crowned prince and princess, and each was presented a loving cup by Mr. C. Sherwood Miller, class adviser. The princess received also a large bouquet and a crown of flowers. The hop, which was held on the evening of April 24 from eight until twelve o'clock, was given free to all sophomores and their dates. The theme of the decorations, which were in charge of Priscilla Cook, was a spring scene. Paul Glynn's orchestra furnished music for the hop.

Through the loyal support of the students, more than one hundred forty dollars was collected at the sophomore show and the St. Patrick's Day Dance. This enabled the class to pay for all pictures in the "Kenitorial" this year instead of collecting the money from students.

Meetings of the officers and the adviser were held to plan the special events, whose dates were set at the beginning of the year. Two special meetings of the sophomore class were held this year to inform the class of important events.

KENITORIAL CHIEFS

First row: Musty; B. Hagen; Graham; Mr. Vosburgh, adviser.

"Can you imagine Kenmore without 'The Kenitorial,' without a publication of any kind?" So read the introduction to "The Kenitorial" write-up in that annual in 1927. In four years it had become such an important part of school life that pupils found it difficult to imagine being without it.

This year the question is even more appropriate since the '42 "Kenitorial" may be the last of its superior quality "for the duration." Realizing this, its Co-Editors Barbara Hagen and Joan Graham, Business Manager Clyde Musty, Adviser Mr. Clarence R. Vosburgh, and the staff worked hard to make it one of the "best ever." Significant of this spirit was the large number of sophomores and juniors who again worked on the staff with the seniors.

Typical of the growing program of the school, "The Kenitorial" also became larger with four more pages this year than last. Four club pictures of the new Engineering, Modern Dance, Music Appreciation, and Pan-American Clubs occupied part of the space while two extra pages of boys' and girls' intramural sports also accounted for part of it.

Sixteen shots of school rather than last year's twelve was another expansion, with more of the "pix" being "shot" by the school camera than in previous years.

The art work on the division pages, designed to carry out the theme, "Education for Peace," were drawn on coquille board by art pupils under the direction of Miss Margaret Chase.

ROSTRUM EDITOR

Best wishes to a friend I shall never forget. Life should be good to you, Ann
Jean Pierce

Jean Pierce, editor-in-chief.

Headlines and deadlines sound romantic, but few people appreciate the romance behind them.

Publication of "The Rostrum" starts with the editor's talking with the adviser, covering the beat, then calling a meeting of the editorial board. The meeting is called to order, and a discussion about the coming issue follows. Page plans are gone over, assignments are given out, and page editors are appointed. Controversial discussions sometimes arise about the editorials, but often definite information has to be found before the question can be solved.

The copy editor must report the deadline night to check in copy. Until about two days before the date of publication, he is busy going over all the copy, making necessary corrections, checking word counts, and reading the galley proof to correct linotype errors.

Page editors must report on assigned nights to write headlines for the stories assigned to their pages, and to paste up the galley proofs on old pages of "The Rostrum" to show the printer how the pages are planned.

The editor's job is very important. It is her job to cover the beat, get "scoops", and supervise affairs to make sure everything runs smoothly and efficiently. This year's editor, Jean Pierce, improved the style of writing and encouraged efficiency.

One-column editorials replaced the former two-column ones, and the "Welcome" column was introduced to better acquaint the "old timers" with the newcomers.

ROSTRUM STAFF

First row: DeLisle; Mandly; Cole; Murphy; Graham; Pierce, editor-in-chief; Mr. Vosburgh, adviser; B. Hagen; Fischler; Hadley; M. Gordon; Bushnell.
Second row: M. Blais; E. Senftle; B. Blais; P. Johnson; J. Holland; M. Barrett; Achramovitch; Worth; Lingel; Argus; Lane; Salmon; Brace.
Third row: D. Williams; Haag; Backus; Howard; Nulse; Reid; D. Saunders.

STUDENT COUNCIL

First row: Coffman; R. Hott; Mr. Freeman; R. Moore; Pilkey.
Second row: Markham; K. Bush; Enright.

Amending the constitution through student voting in class meetings was accomlished by this year's Student Council. The amendment provides that the president and vice president of each class be represented at meetings and that they be of opposite sex. The office of Sub-Council representative was abolished under this amendment.

Methods for selecting cheer leaders and requirements for cheerleading letters were recently changed in the by-laws. It was decided that the Student Council should meet the afternoon of the same day the Sub-Council meets. Records for noonday dancing were purchased through the Student Council fund, and Thursday evening dancing was placed in the hands of the council.

SUB-COUNCIL

Introducing the sale of war bonds and saving stamps was only one of the activities of the September to January Sub-Council. Moreover, they undertook such affairs as bringing to the attention of school authorities an overcrowded bus situation, continuing Red Cross Life Saving classes, encouraging afghan knitting, and stressing the importance of making air raid drills a success. Sub-Council meetings witnessed committee reports, open forums concerning student problems, and appointments of new committees to investigate problems or suggestions brought up at the meetings.

The first semester Sub-Council withdrew its proposition to continue throughout the year when it was suggested that both councils have pictures in "The Kenitorial."

First row: Graham; Whallon; Murphy; Jean Moore; K. Bush; Rosen; Condrell; M. Gordon; E. Stevens; Mary Alice Foley; Larson; Coates; Hazen; McKean.
Second row: Inskip; Gillen; Masters; James Campbell; Kelly; W. Shaw; D. Saunders; Foster; Barnes; Dohn; Setzo; Duddleston; Jim Mooney.
Third row: Bob Williams; Hutchison; Voisinet; T. Powell; Vogt; Lyon; Weller.

First row: Fisher; Mary Alice Foley; Moss; Lucas; Mr. Freeman; J. Pierce; B. Hagen; Buck; Worth; Betty Jane Anderson.

Second row: Goundry; McKingham; Nachtrieb; Walker; Toomey; Mary Smith; Lingel; Landers; Johnson; Hughes; Hall.

Third row: Jansen; Simpkins; White; Hood; Bell; Albert; Lyon; Backus; Whitmore; Hughes; Ross.

HONOR CLUB

Although the Honor Club, which is headed this year by Valedictorian Bernice Lucas and Salutatorian Jean Pierce, is an honorary organization and as such does not carry on any activities. Its members declare that it takes plenty of activity to "make" the club. Those whose marks fall in the upper ten per cent of the class after examination results for the previous three and one half years have been averaged are admitted.

SUB-COUNCIL

Committee appointments continued to be evident as the second semester Sub-Council ushered in the new term. Cafeteria rules put in effect recently was the first accomplishment of the new members in cooperation with the first semester Sub-Council at a joint meeting.

The Sub-Council conducted the Red Cross and scrap metal drives. In addition, the members collected money in the home rooms for the War Relief and Community Fund Drive.

First row: Stall; T. Moore; P. Smith; Schmitt; Power; L. Hughes; Mr. Freeman; B. Hott; Morrison; Stone; E. Gordon; Maxwell; C. Kelley; Webster.

Second row: Graef; Backus; McCoskrie; Doyle; Adams; Folsom; Condrell; Davis.

Third row: Conshafter; P. Ivancic; Radosovich; Van Summern; T. Edwards; Kirst; Jones; MacAdam; Weig; D. Williams.

Fourth row: Bush; Davey; McMullen; Jacobs.

DUKES

First row: Foster; Voisinet, treasurer; MacAdam, vice president; Mr. Kamm, adviser; Hughes, president; Johnston, secretary; Boebel.

Second row: McKeen; Powell; Ray Moore; Weller; Bodkin; Noel; Snyder; Hutchison.

Third row: Sipperley; Hemstreet; Rustay; Aspinall.

During this emergency period organizations such as the Dukes have tried to continue to build the type of character that is necessary for leadership qualities. Having been founded in 1935, the Dukes now have approximately seventy-five active and passive members. This year's activities included weekly meetings, at which there were discussions and talks by outside speakers.

Highlights of the year's activities, which included social and athletic events, were the annual "stag," colored movies, a banquet, and initiation of new members. One of the outstanding projects accomplished by the club was the complete revision of its constitution.

GIRL RESERVES

Saucy grew, grew, grew—and the Girl Reserves did too, until they became international. Sailing through a full program of activities, the Kenmore Girl Reserves found time for a conference with Buffalo Girl Reserves.

Aiming for widespread good fellowship, the girls set an example by leaving the latchstring out for girls of any color, race, or creed. "A friend in need is a friend indeed," according to the girls who did welfare work to further their good fellowship purpose.

Evacuation was the subject of an address to the G. R.'s by a British woman when she spoke about her work in England. Another highlight of this year's program was a fashion show, in which the girls modeled the latest "teen-age" styles.

Second row: D. Barrett; Lamy; P. Edwards; M. Hass; Kenny; G. Hass; Jones; Dauberger; Tyng; Hill; Park.

Third row: Dick; Ackerman; E. Smith; B. Utecht; Doran; Farrell; Moran; Everett; Schwemle; Bredemeier.

ALPHA PHI LAMBDA

First row: Seymour; B. Smith; Nonenmacher; Towe, treasurer; Lyon, president; Miss Chittenden, adviser; J. Pierce, vice-president; B. Hagen; Buck; Graham; Fisher.

Second row: Erion; Shaw; C. Hagan; Simpkins; Boebel; Adams; Lingel; Brunswick.

Encouraging possible authors of tomorrow, Alpha Phi Lambda is a club devoted to the stimulation of creative writing.

Each year the organization publishes "The Flame", composed of the best manuscripts submitted to the club by members and prospective members for consideration and criticism. This year, however, because of the national emergency and the need for conservation of paper, Alpha Phi Lambda has decided to publish only two copies, one to be placed in the school library for student enjoyment, and the other to be kept for future groups by Miss Elizabeth Chittenden, adviser.

The regular annual prizes for the best representative examples of prose and of poetry will be awarded as usual at the banquet given for all members in May.

HI-Y

Organized "to create, maintain, and extend a high standard of Christian character throughout the school and community," the Kenmore Senior Hi-Y Club meets weekly to discuss topics of the day and, especially, boy-problems.

In addition to these regular meetings, the club carries out its purpose through a series of deputation services in local churches. The theme for this year's services was "Our Civilization—Is It Christian?"

Symbolical of the club is the triangular gold pin which is worn by only those members who fulfill specified requirements. Among these requirements are: being a member in good standing of a religious organization, having at least two conferences with the club adviser, interviewing four professional men, and reading the book, "The Return to Religion," by Henry C. Link.

First row: Inskip; Richard Williams; Folsom; Robert Williams, treasurer; J. Edwards, vice-president; Freudenberger, president; Mr. Braunton, adviser; Lyon, recording secretary; Musty, corresponding secretary; Gillen; Boga t; Capen; J. Campbell.

Second row: LeRoy; Perrin; Duddleston; Stetson; Petterson; Sutherland; L. Turner; D. Saunders; Davey; Shaw; Aspinall; Elfvin; C. McDonald.

Third row: Walters; J. Davidson; Weig; Jansen; Roger Moore; Barnes; Bodkin; Kirst; R. Hott; Weller; Voisinet; J. Snyder; Ray Moore.

THESPIANS

First row: Fisher; Vervaeke; Lyon, treasurer; Miss Strong, adviser; Simpkins, president; Maltzahn, secretary.

Second row: Shaw; Biggie; Payson; Weller; Snyder; Jacobs; Buck.

Third row: Adams; Guiney; Gunderson.

The Thespians of Kenmore Senior High School, under the advisership of Miss Eve Strong, meet regularly, aiming to improve their knowledge and talent in dramatics. Toward achieving this, the club attended, practically en masse, two plays at the Erlanger. Maurice Evans and Margaret Webster in the spectacular "Macbeth" and Ethel Barrymore in "The Corn Is Green" were model lessons for the Thespians.

Richard Simpkins, Carmelita Fisher, and Don Lyon, depicting the lives of German immigrants to America, took the leading roles in this year's senior play, "The American Way."

Three one-act plays, "Wonder Hat," "Pink and Patches," and "In the Zone," were presented this year.

BOYS' LETTER CLUB

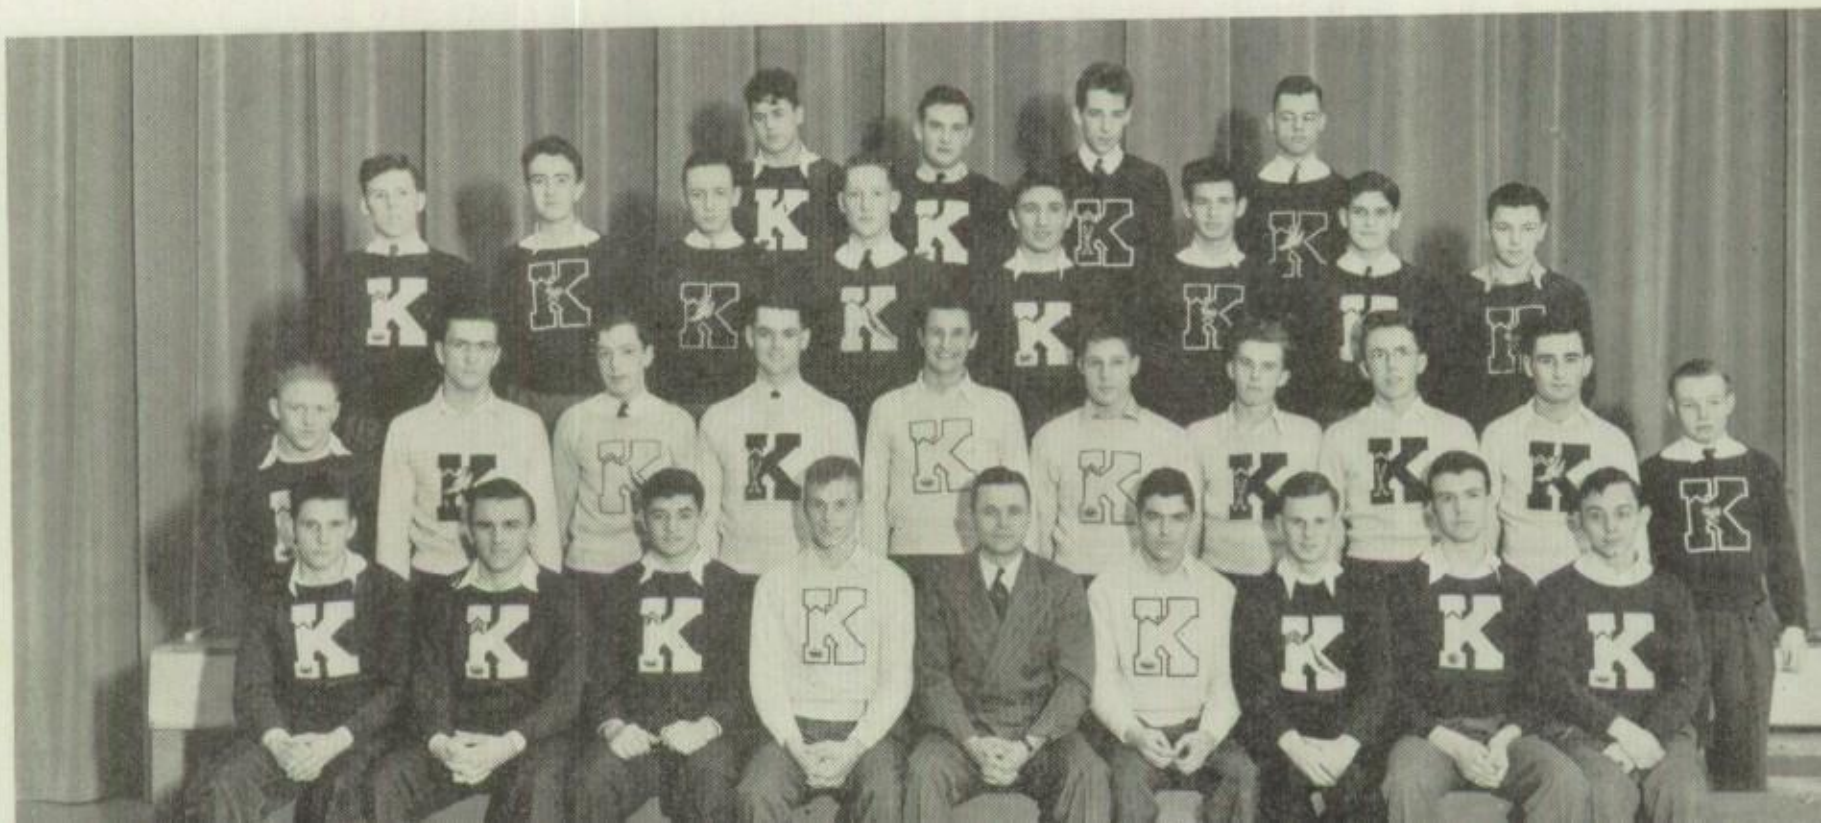
The Boys' Letter Club, under the advisership of football coach, Richard W. Offenhamer, presented Forest Evashevski, former Michigan All-American, and at present head football coach at Hamilton College, as the main speaker at the annual football letter assembly in November. In the early winter, the club sold pencils which had the home basketball schedule printed on them. The money raised was for the club members' pins. At the midyear assembly the club sang famous college songs. Also helping to highlight the year were the club's roller skating and bowling parties. As the year neared completion, Mr. Offenhamer planned to take the club on a week-end visit to Colgate. A picnic had also been scheduled at the time this was written.

First row: F. Ivancic; Martineck; Lilak; R. Moore, secretary; Mr. Offenhamer, adviser; Coleman; president; Freudenberger, treasurer; Leroy; Musty.

Second row: Wiedeman; Schultz; Farley; Voisinet; Kirst; Stetson; Morton; Rawe; Davenport; George.

Third row: O'Rourke; Powell; MacAdam; Weig; Radosevich; Penley; Colby; Ranney.

Fourth row: J. Christie; J. Edwards; Wright; Morgan.



MODERN DANCE

First row: I. Davis; Beardslee; Kreher; Doleman; Gordon; D. Davis.

With Mrs. Jack Onderdonk as instructor, the Modern Dance Club has met Thursday evenings during the winter.

Modern dancing is one of the newer arts and has not received much recognition until recently. The dance is based on rhythmic movements of the body. It is interpretation of thought and feeling through music. In comparison with ballet there is more strenuous body action in the movements of modern dance. It has become popular in colleges even though most high schools do not offer it.

Receiving a school letter for modern dance entitles a girl to membership in the Girls' Letter Club. Miss Marie Kauffman is school adviser for the group.

ART ROUND TABLE

Piggy banks painted with polka dots and flowers were sold at the annual Art Round Table sale held last year in December. Savage heads fashioned into lapel pins from bits of cork, sea shells, yarn, chicken rings, and other oddities were also sold.

Meetings were held weekly, every other week in the evening at one of the members' homes. Dark blue sweaters and red, white, and blue chenille emblems were purchased early in the year. In February the club went to the Albright Art Gallery where they were especially interested in the Thorre Miniature Rooms.

Miss Margaret Chase became the club adviser when Miss Jeannette Underwood moved from the locality. The annual picnic was planned for May 8 when this was written.

First row: M. Freeman; M. Stevens; Greasler; Wagner; Lederer, president; Miss Chase, adviser; M. Smith, vice-president; I. Davis, secretary and treasurer; Webb; Mutchler; M. Laramie.
Second row: Huffmire; D. Davis; Ignaz; Anderson; Kenney; Way; Hett; Vogelsang; Rapp; Meech.
Third row: I. Smith; Hadley; Vukovic; Yoder; Gahr.

Best of luck in everything you do!

ENGINEERING CLUB

First row: Burdick; Comeau; Doerflein; Merkle, president; Mr. Bentz, advise:; MacAdam; Moffat; Claus; J. Barnes; Fenwick.

Under Mr. Russell Bentz, its adviser, the officers provided many interesting programs for the members. Movies illustrating the mechanics of diesel and gasoline engines and one showing the assembly line in the Ford Automobile Plant at River Rouge, Michigan were shown to the members. Mr. Bentz's defense class necessitated the discontinuance of second semester meetings.

GIRLS' LITERARY CLUB

With the purpose of acquainting its members with literature of other countries, the Girls' Literary Club devoted several meetings to South American life. Book reviews were given by members in an assembly presented by the club. Also books were given to the library.

An afghan was made by the girls for the Red Cross, and at the annual May banquet an award was made to the senior girl having the highest average in English III and IV.

First row: Fox; Fischler; C. Foley; Thomas; McLaren; F eeman; Mutchler; Reissig, scribe; Coffman, regent; Miss Hepinstall, adviser; Graham, vice regent; Gordon; Lovelace; Millian; J. Moore; Marshall; Wadsworth; Ignaz; B. Smith.

Second row: Rechen; Frank; Schleuse; Innes; Wolf; Hawkins; Ward; Domedion; Hunter; Stinson; Hughes; Merrill; B. Jane Anderson; Curro; Doyle; Schutrum; Hett.

Third row: Power; M. A. Foley; Lotz; Buck; Stains; Kreher; Albrechtson; Enright; Masters; Seelbach; Stickney; Bushnell; Miller; Schmitt; Powell; Doleman; Decker.

Fourth row: Stanton; Malden; Walko; Greek; Salmon; Argus; Lingel; C. Anderson; Heidlebach; Campbell; Munz.

CHEER-LEADERS

First row: C. Foley; J. Thomas; Albrechtson; B. Smith.
Second row: Westcott; C. Anderson; Tanner.
Third row: Staunton.

With their varied assortment of cheers, the cheerleaders arouse the pep and enthusiasm of the students to inspire the players to score victories for their Alma Mater.

Under the supervision of Mr. T. Francis McLaughlin, the 1941-42 cheerleading squad, led by Faye Tanner, took in a new member, Betty Westcott, after the try-outs.

At the letter day assembly the veteran leaders received major letters while Betty Westcott received a minor one.

SCIENCE CLUB

In order to promote interest in science and further scientific knowledge, the Kenmore High School Science Club meets once a month under the direction of Mr. Rolland J. Gladieux.

Activities for the year included a nature hike to Smoke Creek Valley near Orchard Park. At another meeting various members gave demonstrations showing basic chemical principles.

A gift of an eight-inch reflecting telescope will, when the mirror is resilvered by the members, enable the club to observe some of our solar neighbors.

First row: Fisher; MacBride; Towe; Dagg; Lyon, president; Reissig, treasurer; Mr. Gladieux, adviser; Wegener, vice-president; Mitchell; Millian; Wolf; C. Davis.

Second row: Roberts; Hamister; MacDowell; Usher; Maltzahn; Shaw; Jacobs; Hartman; Benson; P. Edwards; Hubbard; Vankos.

Third row: Graveson; Hammond; Goerss; J. Riehm; Nobel; Wagner; Cloutier; Reed; Mehls; Burley; Felger; Sharp; Scarborough; Hood.

Fourth row: Plumer; Howard; Jack Davidson; Landel; John Kaeppel; Jansen; Hall; Blessing; Davies; Rustay; Backus; White; Ray Moore.

MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB

First row: A. Senftle; Buck, vice-president; Miss A. Dearing, adviser; Fisher, president; E. MacBay; Trabert.

Second row: Devitt; Ackerman; Stall; Stanton; Bridenbecker; Jackson; Seymour; Smith.

The music of Goodman, Krupa, and Shaw and the compositions of Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms are examples of the various types of music which have been contrasted by the Music Appreciation Club, established in the fall of 1940. Music interpretation is the theme of the organization.

The club listens to phonograph records and to outside speakers. An instrumental demonstration was given by band members. Friendship and culture are developed by inter-club relations, such as the joint meeting with the German Club. Those members who are not musically talented find their forte in presenting talks and giving lectures on the great composers of our times and also of the past. The ultimate aim of the club is "programs with a purpose."

PAN-AMERICAN CLUB

Hi, neighbor! The promotion of the good neighbor policy is one of the chief objectives of the newly formed Pan-American Club. The present world situation and the recent Pan-American conference at Rio de Janiero have made an increasing demand for better international relationships among the Americas. In line with this, some pupils at Kenmore Senior High have organized the Pan-American Club.

In order to reach a better knowledge and appreciation of the culture and mode of living of Uncle Sam's southern brothers, the club, under the advisership of Miss Ruth Dearing, has enlisted the services of speakers both from outside and from within the club membership. Guest speakers Mrs. Clarence R. Vosburgh, a native Panamanian, and Mr. William Besosa, a Kenmore resident from Puerto Rico, have spoken on Latin America.

First row: Fleischman; Shafer; Trabert; Laih; Thorn, treasurer; Sweet, vice-president; D. Saunders, president; Miss R. Dearing, adviser; Lumley, secretary; Wadsworth; Conrad; Spawton; Napier.

Second row: Kirkwood; Devitt; Doll; Stanton; Butler; Nicholson; Ebling; Echenrode; Ewing; B. Domedion.

DEBATE CLUB

First row: Mr. Braunton; Bodkin; J. Pierce; Simpkins.
Second row: Johnston; Voisinet.

A fast 'n furious schedule, which included four debates in five days during the third week in March, concentrated the Kenmore '42 debating squad's attention on the topic "Resolved, That every able-bodied male citizen in the United States should be required to have one year of full-time military training before attaining the present draft age."

Early in the season old man weather almost discouraged the team when the March 3 snow storm cancelled three scheduled debates.

The final results of the team's efforts, however, were:

	Opponent	Kenmore
La Salle	1	1
Silver Creek	1	1
Jamestown	1	1
Fredonia (incompleted)	1	0
Hamburg	0	2
Niagara Falls	1	1

SECRETARIAL CLUB

How does the modern secretary get her job and what problems does she face in her daily work? The discussion of this question is the chief aim of the Secretarial Club whose fifty members meet once a month under the adviserships of Miss Beatrice L. Hunt.

Topics on the subject of a secretary and her work were given by various members at each meeting of the club. This year a special effort was made to create interest in civil service appointments. Among this year's speakers were several alumnae of Kenmore Senior High School who spoke about their present jobs.

First row: J. Thomas; M. Stevens; Dougherty; M. Barrett; N. Martin, president; Miss Hunt, adviser; Derner, vice-president; Knibloe; Fessler; Farrell; B. Smith; Ensminger.

Second row: A. Senftle; D. Davis; Rawe; I. Davis; McGuire; Evarts; J. Dick; Brennan; Plemmel; E. Senftle; Ennis; Neff.

Third row: Meech; Lane; Bretherton; Burlington; Grant; M. J. Martin; Luther; Mabey; Mang; Walter; Lindsay; Ritchie; Stains.

Fourth row: Rideout; Proplesch; Forsaith; Almeter; Seibold; Doelman, Achramovitch; Huggins; Toomey; Glow; Munz.

SANS SOUCI

Second row: Hugh Bell; Hemstreet; Holland; Schmitt; Enright; E. Stevens; Brunswick; Stinson; Shupe; Davey.

After a period of inactivity Sans Souci meetings were resumed near the end of last year.

A translation of "Sans Souci" yields "without a care." The members participate in games and songs at meetings, using both French and English as a means of conversing.

The group's principal activity this year was a Christmas Party. At another meeting it had lantern slides concerning "la belle France." In addition it plans to hold a party each spring as a finale for the year's activities.

The membership is limited to Adviser Miss Ann Conn's third year French students.

GERMAN CLUB

Contrary to the general practice of the last World War and as evidence of an increased understanding on the part of the American people, German clubs are continuing the study of the German language and pre-Nazi culture.

German Club meetings, advised by Miss Beulah Harms, promoted understanding of the German people.

In the Christmas meeting, the story of the Nativity was read in German, and a study was made of the Christmas customs of the German people. The club devoted its February meeting to a discussion on famous German-Americans, and at the April meeting, several members presented a German play, "Der tote Gast."

First row: Thompson; Gruber; Argus; J. Moore; Lingel, president; Strong, secretary; Miss Harms, adviser; Hassel, treasurer; B. Hagen; B. Marshall; Decker; Fisher; Bickerton.

Second row: Graveson; Davies; Sterner; Schmidt; Burley; Musty; Funk; Jones; Van Summern; Chotoff; Sipperley; Kaiser.

Third row: B. Schaffer; Goerss; Lounsberry; Wegener; Ebling; Johnston; Noel; Powell.

Fourth row: Voisinet; Lilak; Kirst; Weig; Perrin.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

First row: Vervaeke; Whittaker; K. Bush; Doerr; E. Kelly, treasurer; Condrell, president; Miss Gendreau, adviser; Stickney, vice-president; D. Rickert, secretary; D. Maxwell; Gordon; Fischler.

Second row: Hoag; Kritz; Schleuse; M. Patterson; Jones; Pettis; Green; Scott; Saylor; Wadsworth; Schutrum.

Third row: Alling; Schuler; Allison; Osgood; D. Saunders; Bridenbecker; Walters; Noel; Dixon.

"Parlez-vous francais?" If you don't speak French, "Le Cercle Francais" isn't the place for you. One finds that French alone may be spoken as this is the organization's purpose.

Miss Marie-Jeanne Gendreau originated the club in Kenmore Senior High School with a correct knowledge of the French language as an aim. For this purpose games and plays adapted to the knowledge of the members are presented.

Minutes and other business are read in French. Singing of patriotic, seasonal, and well-known favorites is in the charge of the musical director.

LATIN CLUB

To further the appreciation of the Latin language and Roman culture among the pupils of Kenmore High School, the Latin Club, whose adviser is Miss Lillian M. Barrows, has thirty-three members and meets every four weeks. The membership is not limited in number, but only students who have passed second year Latin are eligible.

One of the outstanding events of this year was a talk on March 19 by Professor Edward G. Schauroth, head of the classics department of the University of Buffalo, who used as his subject, "Vergil."

At this writing a picnic for sometime in June was planned.

First row: Saylor; Stall; Wolf; Guiney, praetor; Pierce, consul; Miss Barrows, adviser; Murphy, praetor; Betty Jane Anderson, quaestor; Lotz; Graham; Millian.

Second row: J. Roehrig; Lawler; Gordon; Reissig; Larson; Cochrane, aedile; Mellors; Moss; Hunter; Power; Mitchell.

Third row: Albrechtson; C. Anderson; Campbell; Hood; Calloway; R. Myers; Sheppard; Miller; Salmon; Ott.

CAFETERIA

First row: Erion; Nachtrieb; Maltzahn; Lingel; Achramovitch; M. Barrett; M. Kendall; I. Davis; D. Davis.

Second row: Rogers; Mudra; Niblock; Weller; Bannar; Auer; Morton; Farley.

Third row: Kean; Majoros; Aspinall; Gundersen.

"Let's eat for efficiency" is the slogan for the cafeteria this year. Because of the sugar rationing the cafeteria has had to discontinue the chocolate syrup for ice cream. Prices have remained fairly constant because, for one reason, a large portion of the canned goods for this year's consumption was purchased last spring. The students have become nutrition-conscious, according to Miss Lewis, head of the cafeteria staff.

GIRLS' LETTER CLUB

"Get 'em while they're hot" is a familiar chant with the Girls' Letter Club. To raise money, the girls sold hot dogs at the football games and candy at both football and basketball contests.

With the patriotic trend taking the place of their Christmas charity basket, the girls sent cookies to soldiers this year.

Composed of girls of Kenmore High School who have won letters in extracurricular athletics, the organization promotes sportsmanship, friendship, and physical fitness through competitive sports.

First row: Whittaker; Burlington; Vaughn; Brunswick; Achramovitch; E. Stevens, president; Miss Kauffman, adviser; Holland, vice-president; B. Turner; Wolf; J. Wirges; Martin; Glow.

Second row: Lingel; Worth; Whalon; D. Rickert; P. Cook; Kreher; James; Hanford; Grant; Martha Patterson; I. Davis; Fessler; Lathrop.

Third row: C. Fisher; M. Foley; D. Hadley; P. Smith; M. Kendall; Gordon; Maxfield; J. Seibold; Bennett; Stall; Minor.

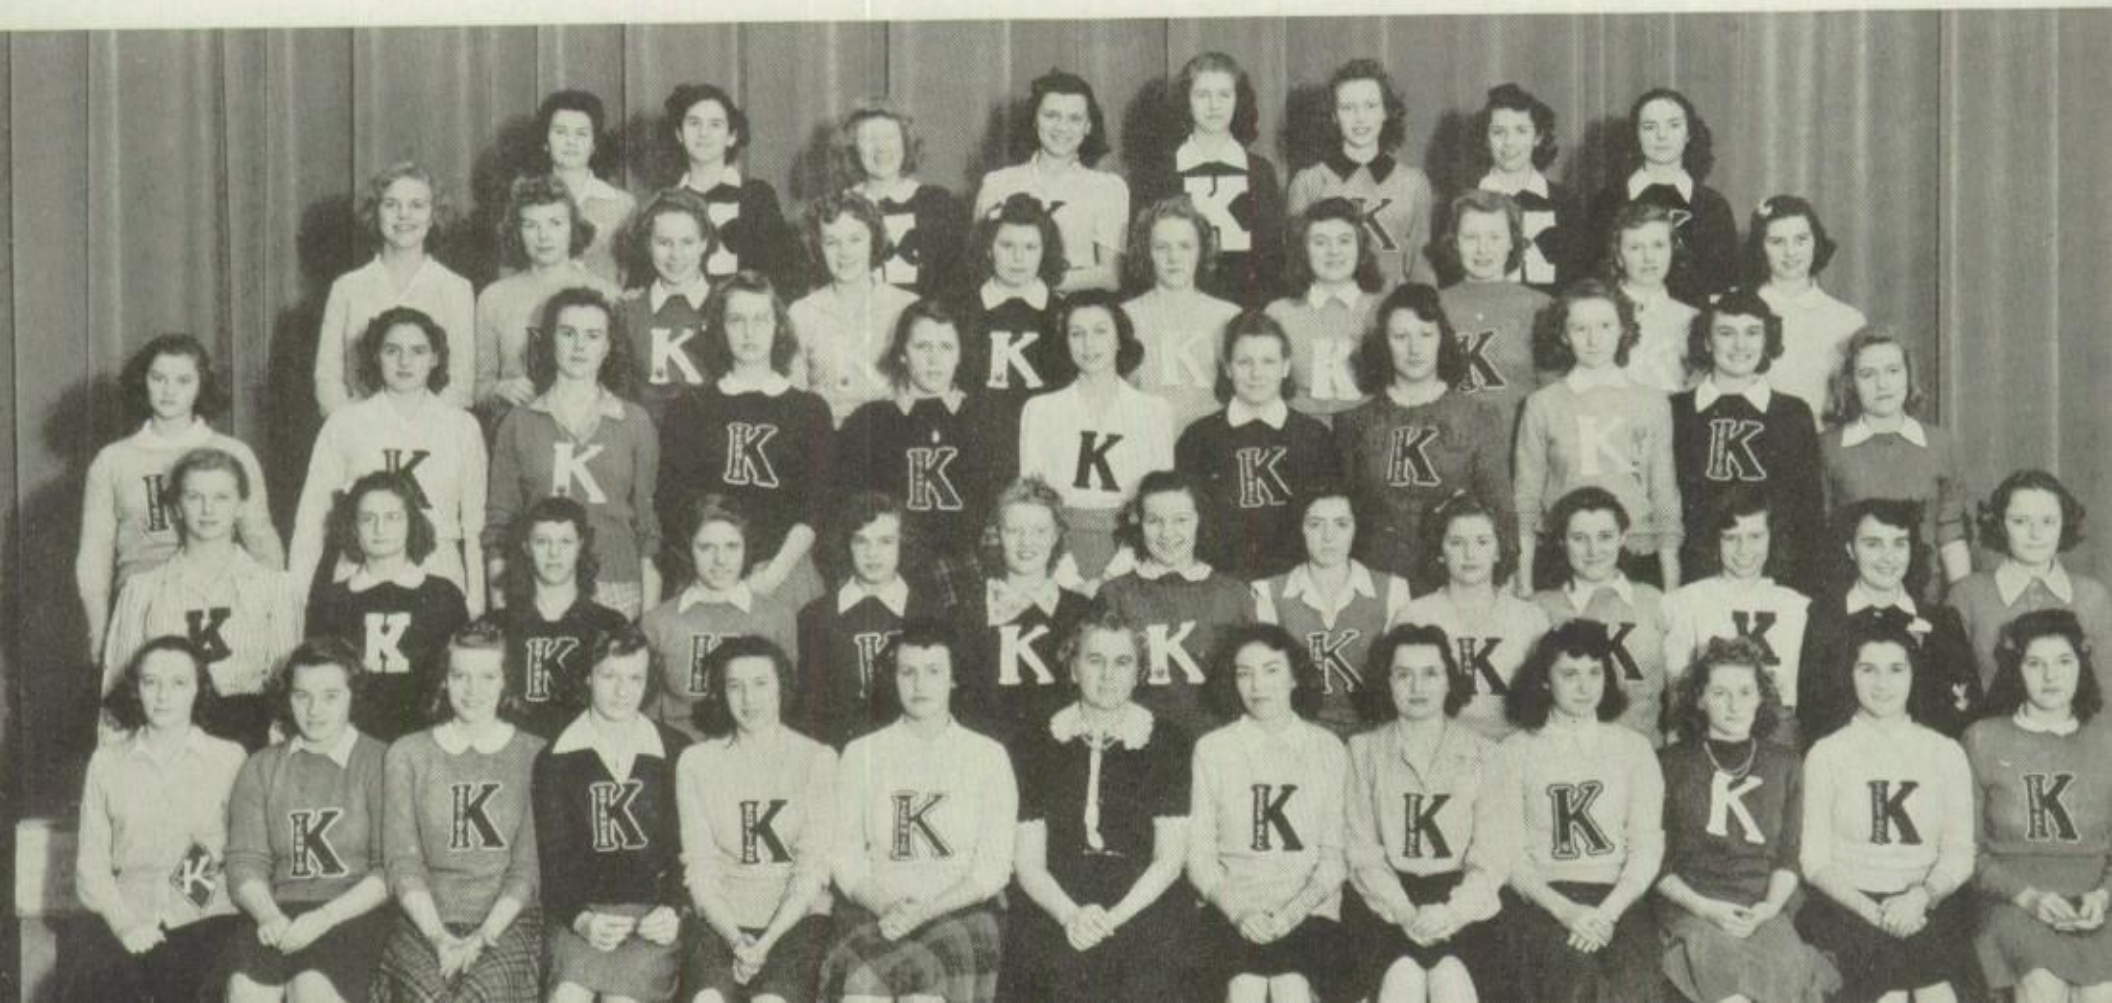
Fifth row: C. Foley; J. Thomas; B. Smith; B. Hughes; Albrechtson; D. Maxwell; Tanner; M. Stevens.



SKI CLUB

With three years of existence completed, the Kenmore High School Ski Club continues to thrive under the guidance of Mr. Theodore Siekmann.

The purpose of the club, as the average layman might suspect, is to provide a place for student skiing enthusiasts to talk shop or discuss misfortunes which befell a few members. Each member had to obtain a consent slip from his parents before he could participate in any activities, thus releasing the school from any liability.

The club made six all-day trips this year. Not only Saturdays, but also Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays found the skiers "rarin' to go." They took trips to Chestnut Ridge Park and Colden, New York. Two buses were required for the average of sixty persons attending each outing. "Skis and dispractice may break my bones, but song will never hurt me" might well have been the slogan of the members as they filled the buses with song on the way home.

The club received its share of honors this year when Mae Kendall and Paul Kelley won the cross-country race in the women's and men's classes, respectively, at the Red Jacket Ski Club which is located near Clarksburg, New York.

In order that the members may become more proficient in the art of skiing, an attempt will be made to get a professional skiing instructor from the Niagara Ski Council, according to Mr. Siekmann. The instructor not only will be able to help the beginners, but also may be able to teach the "old dog some new tricks with the sticks."

In 1939, when the club was founded, there were a mere eight members. Now, with approximately one out of every twenty pupils a member, there are about seventy in the club.

The war effort may somewhat curtail activities for next year, reported Mr. Siekmann. The tire shortage may make bus transportation impossible, and thereby necessitate finding a spot within hiking distance.

Second row: Musty; Martin; Massing; Joslin; Carr; Wheeler; Schneider; Layer; Tracey; Stuff; Hanford; Seelbach; Adams; Payson; White.

Fifth row: Meier; Bell; Burley; Graveson; Davies; Hansen; Kirst; Hott; Hutchison.

Second row: Coffman; Merrill; Martin; Hawkins; Lotz; Layer; B. Hughes; Dagg; Power; Schmitt; Hunter; Mary Patterson; Enright; B. Jo Anderson; Marion; James; Stinson.

Third row: Pilkey; James Campbell; Jacobs; Courtney; Morton; Noble; Scheib; Landers; Masters; Doelman; Decker; Janet Campbell; Albrechtson; C. Anderson; Green; Meier.

Fourth row: Lilak; Downs; Guiney; Farley; O'Rourke; Fenwick; Emblidge; MacAdam; Hutchison; Guild; Perrin; Duddleston; L. Hughes; Riehm.

Fifth row: Martineck; Bridenbecker; Kirst; Hott; Sutherland; Shepard; Williams.

Freedom of expression is one of the American ideals. At the monthly meetings of the Forum Club, advised by Mr. George Barna, Kenmore High School students exercised this right by talking over the issues confronting the United States today. The subjects selected for discussion were: "Should the United States Act Against Further Japanese Encroachment?", "Should Labor's Right to Strike Be Curtailed During This Present Emergency?", "Does a Policy of Isolationism Contribute More to World Peace and Advancement Than a Policy of Aggressiveness?", "How Will the Woman's Status Be Affected by This War?", "How Will the Defense Program Affect the American's Life?", "What Can the United States Do To Preserve Peace at the Close of This War?", "What Is Youth's Problem?", "What Are the Advantages and Disadvantages of Specialized Professions?"

At Christmas time the members sold chocolate Santa Clauses, but because of the sugar shortage the sale of chocolate Easter bunnies was not held. Two theater parties, in addition to a Thursday night dance in the early fall, were sponsored by the Forum Club, which this year numbered 88 pupils. As these ventures proved successful, dues were not required. Membership is limited to juniors and seniors.

An innovation this year was to have the Forum Club conduct round table discussions over the loudspeaker system as part of the home room program. Six of the members who participated in these spoke before the Rotary Club on January 5. They were: Betty Jane Anderson, Irene Roberts, Virginia Coffman, Bob Hott, Jim Campbell, and Bill Jacobs.

Pins were presented to the officers at the last meeting. The group presented twin pictures of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln to the school and knitted an afghan for the Red Cross. In addition, a picnic was planned for the first Tuesday in June to be held on Grand Island, at this writing.

FORUM CLUB

BAND

With the football season getting under way shortly after the beginning of school, an opportunity was offered the Kenmore High School Band to start one of its activities. Adding color to exciting Saturday afternoons, the band played for all home games and also did some drilling during the intermissions.

Throughout the year the band studied various classical and semi-classical compositions by well-known composers. As a result of the United States' entering the war, many of the new war songs that have been very much popularized lately have been added to the band's repertoire. Care has been taken not to present these pupils with music that is too difficult.

In addition to class work the band has made several public appearances under the direction of Mr. Carl W. Hann. Last fall it performed in a Pan-American assembly in which was featured the overture "Il Guarany". A program of marches and semi-classical music was presented to the Parent-Teacher Association in January. On March 26 and 27 a small group of band members assisted in the senior play, "The American Way." The band presented at Harding Elementary School a spring concert that for the last few years has been an annual custom. Other events in which the band participates annually are the Memorial Day parade and the Armistice Day parade. In the spring they gave a concert containing some new songs that have been inspired by the present war. Throughout the year the band appeared in letter day and pep assemblies.

Besides playing in these various events, the Kenmore High School Band also had the privilege of presenting an assembly featuring Fred Lowry, Horace Heidt's whistler, and a movie showing various concert artists.

CHORUS

There was "music in the air" when the chorus presented several assembly programs this year. The chorus, which is open to all students of Kenmore Senior High School, has increased in size until at this time there is a membership of approximately one hundred and fifty.

In addition to the assembly programs, the chorus and the girls' choir sang in the annual Christmas play. Among the selections sung were the familiar "Silent Night," "Jesu Bambino," "O Holy Night," and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah."

"The Forest Prince," an operetta set in Russia, with music by Peter I. Tschaikowski and lyrics by Edith Sanford Tillotson, was presented May 21 and 22. The singing leads were Lucetta Bonning, Dorothy Buck, James Biggie, and Frank Meier, and the principal speaking parts were taken by Robert Bodkin, John Snyder, William Jacobs, and Douglas Adams. The entire production was staged by Mr. T. Francis McLaughlin and Miss Eve Strong. The story of the operetta concerns the beautiful Tatiana, a princess of Russia, held for ransom by the Cossacks. After much conflict she is rescued by the payment of the ransom. Events show that Vaslav, the Cossack hero, is the son of the Tsar, Mikhail, and had long ago been captured by the Cossacks. Since he is of royal blood, he is able to marry Tatiana, with whom he has fallen in love.

The assembly programs presented by the chorus and girls' choir included solos by Carol Bauer, Lucetta Bonning, Dorothy Buck, James Biggie, and Frank Meier. The numbers which the soloists sang were: "Because," "The Blind Plowman," "Habanera," "Gloria," "Stout-Hearted Men," "Toreador Song" and special arrangements of "Stardust" and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" by Mr. McLaughlin, director of the chorus. A musical program was given before the Parent Teachers Association at which several of the above pieces were sung.

"Music hath charm" holds for the many musical programs given by the girls' choir for outside organizations and school programs. The Kenmore Rotary Club has had the choir sing for its members, and the choir also sang at the Consistory on one occasion. Among the selections given were "Ave Maria," "The Snow Legend," and "In My Garden."

Members of the choir must belong to the chorus and try out before being accepted. Newly acquired robes are now worn in public by both the chorus and the choir.

FOOTBALL

Although nosed out in a tight race for the league championship, Kenmore's 1941 grid machine came through with but one blemish on its record, that a 6-0 heartbreaker to North Tonawanda in its first contest of the season. Mentors Dick Offenhamer and LeRoy Pitkin started in with a verteran first team and some likely newcomers and turned out a combination that scored 232 points for Kenmore against 19 for the opposition. With this record the local gridders outscored any other team in the league. Not only was this true in points but also in every other department with the exception of penalties.

Co-captained by Steve Lilak and Bob Martineck, the squad maintained a high degree of sportsmanship. The coach's substitution of practically every member of the squad on occasion not only helped to give experience to coming gridmen but also supplied inspiration to many of those not on the first string line-up.

Probably the greatest excitement of the season came with the locals' 33 to 0 conquest of the arch rival, Tonawanda, on a sloppy gridiron. The points scored by Kenmore were the only markers scored against the "Lumberjacks" all season.

Twelve members of the first two elevens received special honors when they were named on the annual all-conference team. Of these Dick Ebling, Bob Martineck, Steve Lilak, and John Paar enjoyed first team positions while John Ohar and Don Reichert received second team posts.

Although the 1941 Kenmore cage aggregation won only two contests during the season, several of the games were lost by only two or three points in the last few minutes of play.

The season, however, was far from being a failure for the training received by members of both the varsity and junior varsity combinations will undoubtedly prove extremely valuable next year. With several varsity men, as well as a full team from the junior varsity, scheduled to be on hand next season, the outlook seems bright.

Bob LeRoy and Jim Babcock, forwards on this season's starting team, were given additional honors when given honorable mention on the all-conference team.

The junior varsity combination faired much better than the varsity, coming through with seven wins against seven defeats. This record showed them to be one of the best junior varsity teams to boast the Kenmore name in some time.

Despite the record left by the locals for the season the cagers refused to give up. The squad was a spirited and fighting aggregation, and the relationships between the various members was excellent. According to Coach Wes Snyder this year's team was one of the most pleasant he has ever had to work with.

BASKETBALL

SWIMMING

Veterans on "priority" . . . championship "rep" to uphold . . . only three lettermen. As the Blue and White swimmers surveyed the 1941-42 campaign, these gloomy forebodings darkened their outlook. Nevertheless, pulling a smattering of varsity material from varied sources, Coach Charles S. Pohl formed a well rounded aggregation to compete in the Niagara Frontier Swimming League.

Despite setbacks in the first two meets entered, Kenmore's swimmers, undaunted, swept ahead, taking the next two. Highly-touted Tonawanda, near-champion of the league, then buried Kenmore under an avalanche of points. Niagara Falls took a close meet from the Kenmorites. Then the chance for which the Blue and White mermen eagerly had been awaiting came—revenge to their traditional rival, the Lumberjacks. As expected, a bitter fight ensued and the very outcome hinged on the last relay event and its last leg. When the swimmers touched, it was evident that the Kenmore crew had topped Tonawanda which had come from the ranks of the undefeated. Then Kenmore continued against North Tonawanda and others to wind up the season with four victories.

Remaining were the Sectional Finals, held at Niagara Falls. In each event Kenmore mermen carried off medals. Jim Weig placed first in the 200-yard freestyle, and the relay members, Carl Fenwick, Dick McMullen, Warren Petterson and Weig took third. Larry McElroy was third in the 100-yard backstroke, and Warren Petterson placed third in the fifty-yard sprint.

During most meets, Kenmore's line-up ran as follows: Captain Don Freudenberger and Warren Petterson, fifty-yard freestyle; Dick McMullen and Tom Lauderdale, 100-yard freestyle; Tom Farley and Will Shaw, 100-yard breast-stroke; Larry McElroy and Gil Gudgel, 100-yard backstroke; Jim Weig and Carl Fenwick, 22-yard freestyle; Tom Duddleston and John Niblock, diving.

With but one defeat marked against it in three years of track competition previous to the current season, Coach Wes Snyder's track squad was looking forward to another successful year when this was written before the opening meet.

The schedule for the 1942 season includes seven meets of which at least three will be held on the local track. Pre-season information seemed to name Dunkirk, the only team to defeat the locals in three years, as the hardest competition.

Among those who were scheduled to start the season for Kenmore are Bob Morgan and Dick Taylor in the "100", Jim Babcock and Eugene Fleischmann in the "220", Roger Moore and Herb Schultz in the quarter mile, Ray Shupe in the half mile, Harry Briggs and Bill Guild in the mile, and Carl Hagan in the low hurdles. The field events line up Tom Duddleston and Kenneth Browder for the high jump, Howard MacAdam and Jack Barnes for the broad jump, Steve Lilak and Carl Chotoff for the shot put, and Paul Goundry for the pole vault.

1941 SCHEDULE

In four regular meets last season Kenmore defeated every team met except Dunkirk. The K.H.S. victories were by wide scores. Six members of the Kenmore team plus the relay team qualified for the zone meet at East Aurora. Of these the relay was the only event in which a first place was taken.

Carrying away the Niagara Frontier Championship Trophy last spring, Kenmore High School's tennis team held double honors for playing the second undefeated season in the school's tennis history. Further highlighting the already successful season, the team won both singles and doubles in the Kenmore Invitation Tournament, which is held at the close of every school year.

With only one loss to mar it, the fall record also was praiseworthy. Composed of nearly all new members, the team, with Coach George Wessell in charge, brought the autumn season to a close in a tie with Niagara Falls and Tonawanda.

At a time when victory is on one's mind, the Blue and White golfing foursome did its part in promoting four wins and a tie against three setbacks and then copped the suburban high school golf finals as the highlights of the 1941 fall and spring campaign. In winning the tourney at Hyde Park, the linksmen made their second consecutive conquest over the cream of frontier golfers.

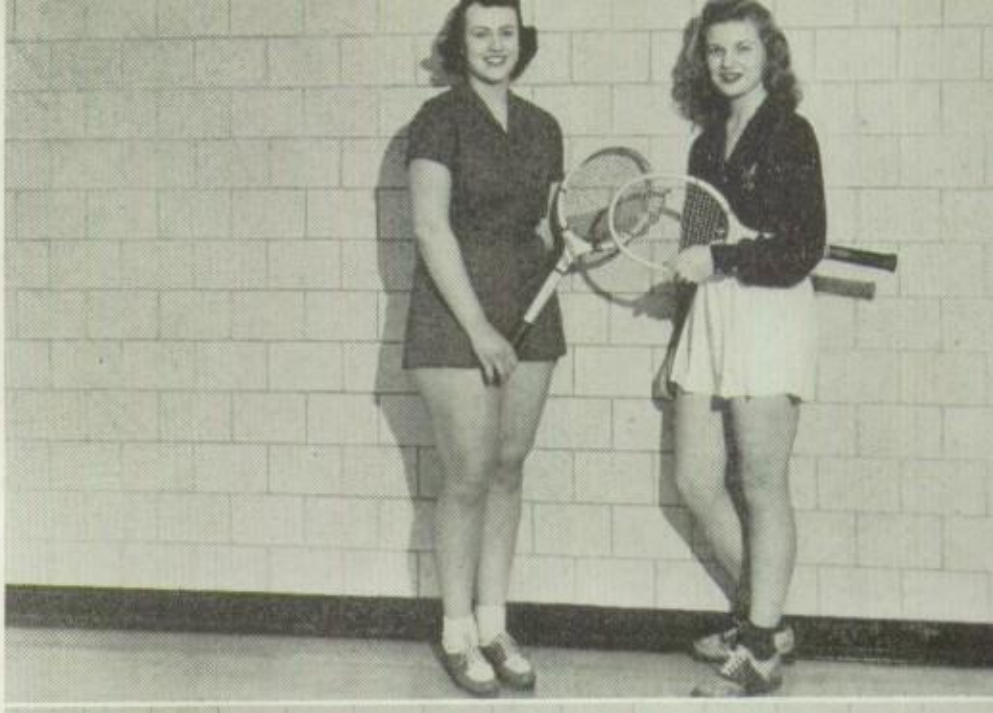
Tutored by Coach C. Sherwood Miller, Captain Walter Voisinet, with 77 points, led his teammates to victory. Cohorts Bob Morton, Harry Wright, Ken Rawe, and Ed Burns, comprised the team.

First row: K. Rawe; R. Morton; Mr. Miller, coach.
Second row: Bogart; Voisinet; Wright.

GIRLS' SPORTS

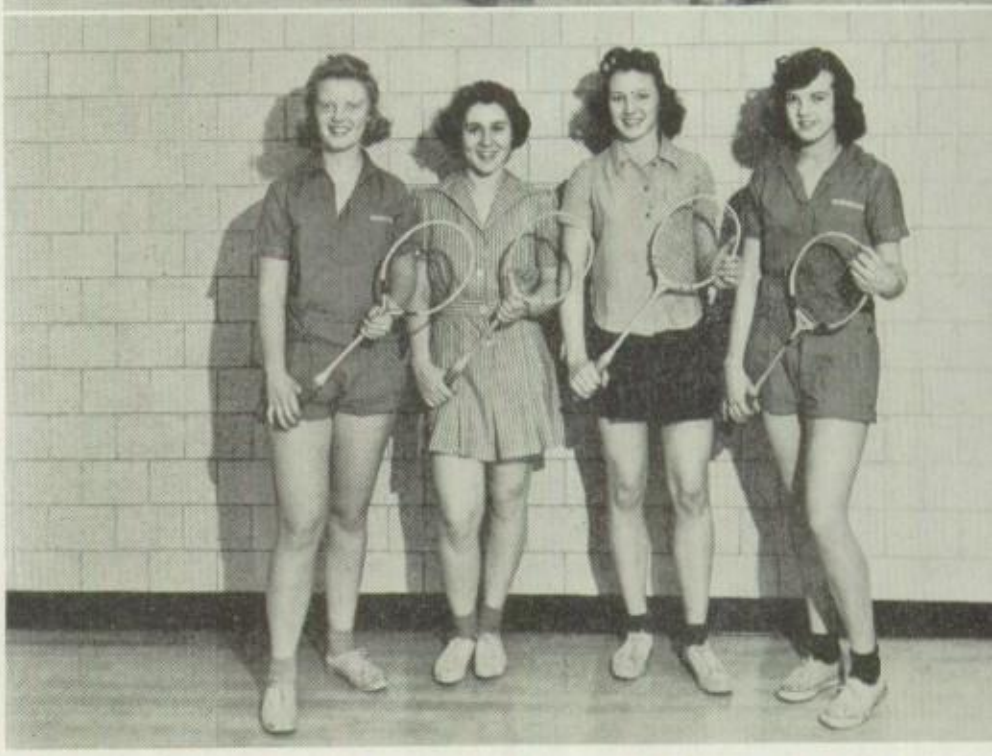
Enthusiastic tennis players will remember the annual tennis tournament which is always held in the fall and played on Kenmore courts. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors had their own individual games and the champion from each class receives a letter at the sports banquet in June.

First row: E. Stevens; J. Seelbach.



There were feather birds over the white nets of Kenmore Senior High School as the junior and senior girls battled away at badminton. With two-girl teams, those having won the most games were eligible for the play-offs, and of these, the best team from each class became champion.

First row: Kreher; Woodworth; Layer; Cook.



Three strikes don't count you out at the Ten Pin Club. Playing Monday and Wednesday nights after school, more than 150 girls thronged the alleys to compete for bowling "K's". It was the largest group of girls ever to participate in this school activity.

First row: F. Hanford; M. Patterson; Vervaeke; P. Smith.

Because of the excellent facilities now for field athletics, after-school soccer became an activity this year in which girls could take part for the first time. Although the girls are not yet familiar enough with the game, several teams turned out to "match kicks" for a soccer "K".

First row: Wirges; M. Kendall; A. Bennett; Whallon.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Following a season of stiff competition in senior intramural basketball on Friday afternoons, the four highest teams met again in the play-offs to determine the championship team. The members of this year's champion team, under the captaincy of Florence Hanford, are proud owners of senior letters.

First row: M. A. Foley; J. Holland; B. Turner; B. Hughes.
Second row: Huggins; Hanford; Achramovitch; M. Kendall.

More than ever before, good health is an important factor in American youth. The corrective gym provides one means to this end for girls to improve their score in the physical fitness test. Here the girls are on a five-day-a-week schedule instead of the usual two periods.

First row: Salmon; Dunning; Wurl; Hansler.

Square dancing, indeed, is not limited to country life for at Kenmore Senior High School, owing to the convenience of providing music in the gym by records, the girls' classes have learned four figures of this rural "truckin'" during their gym periods.

First row: Mellors; G. Johnson.
Second row: Fischler; Schleuse.

No, she isn't a star performer at the Shrine Circus, but a traveler on the rings of the gymnasium. With the apparatus in the gym a series of ten stunts was part of the gym program for girls' classes during the school year.

First row: B. Lanphear.
Second row: G. Johnson; Fox; M. Miller; R. Seelbach; Norman; Martin; Linnan; Huestis.

BOYS' SPORTS

Perhaps they'll never be "All-Americans," but the boys seemed to have enjoyed playing touch football last fall both in gym classes and after school. Forming part of the fall outdoor activity schedule, touch football was organized into an after-school league which played from the middle of September to early November.

First row: J. Usher; Dickinson; L. Stewart; Hassel.

Playing its second undefeated season in six years, the junior varsity football squad still continued last fall with many of its characteristic 0 to 0 scores. Good material for the varsity team was seen in the final line-up of about 45 players, according to Coaches Fred Grefe and Roland Gladieux.

First row: Davidson; Irvine; Johnson; Smith; D. Argus; Markham; Browder; R. Chotoff; Taylor; Landel; Merkle; Schunk; Bush; Hammond.

Second row: Mr. Grefe, coach; Mr. Gladieux, assistant coach; Elve; Power; Graham; Anderson; Kucharski; Burr; Mullane; Lewis; McMullen; Joslin; Yoder; McLernon; Moore; A. Aungst; C. Aungst.

Third row: Able; Jewell; Feinen; Romeyn; Bell; Utz; Ranney; Haag; Herzog; Walker; Plumer.

Set up with the chief purpose of aiding pupils physically, the corrective gym program strives to build up physical fitness, to correct faulty body mechanics, and to develop habits and attitudes towards health and physical activities. Semiannual physical fitness tests and annual health examinations determine the selection of students for the classes.

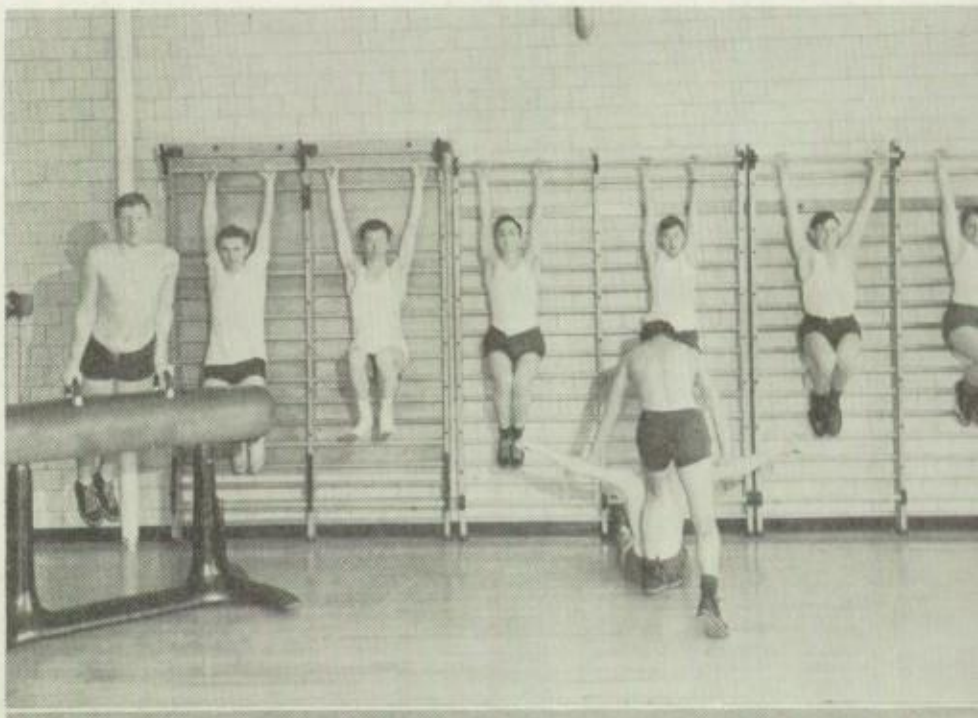
First row: Towns (on the horse.)

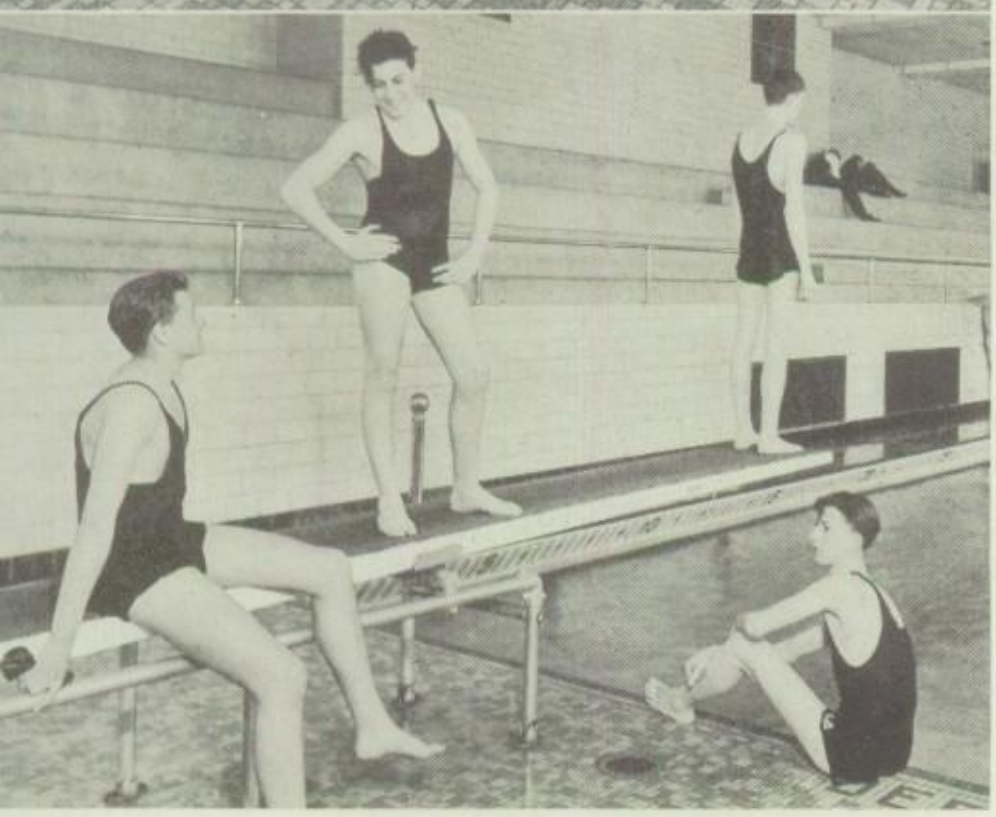
Second row: Obenauer; Hemstreet; North; Fink; Lyon; Mannear.

Parallel bar work forms only one part of the corrective gym stunt program. Additional activities include exercises on the gym horse, horizontal bar, stall bars, and ladders. Taking numerous physical needs into consideration, the physical education department has planned such apparatus stunts as hip circles, back and front vaults, squat vaults, and ladder traveling.

First row: L. Burns (on the bars.)

Second row: Hemstreet; Cloutier; Obenauer; L. Stewart; Lyon; Towns; Drexelius; North; Mannear; Fink.





BOYS' SPORTS

Artificial respiration, one phase of life saving, is among the fundamentals taught in the Red Cross Life Saving Course at Kenmore High School. Other principles studied in the course include methods of water safety, water carries, and the breaking of holds. Differing only in difficulty, the course is divided into junior and senior divisions according to age.

First row: Perrin (victim); Richard Allaire (applying artificial respiration); Robert Allaire.

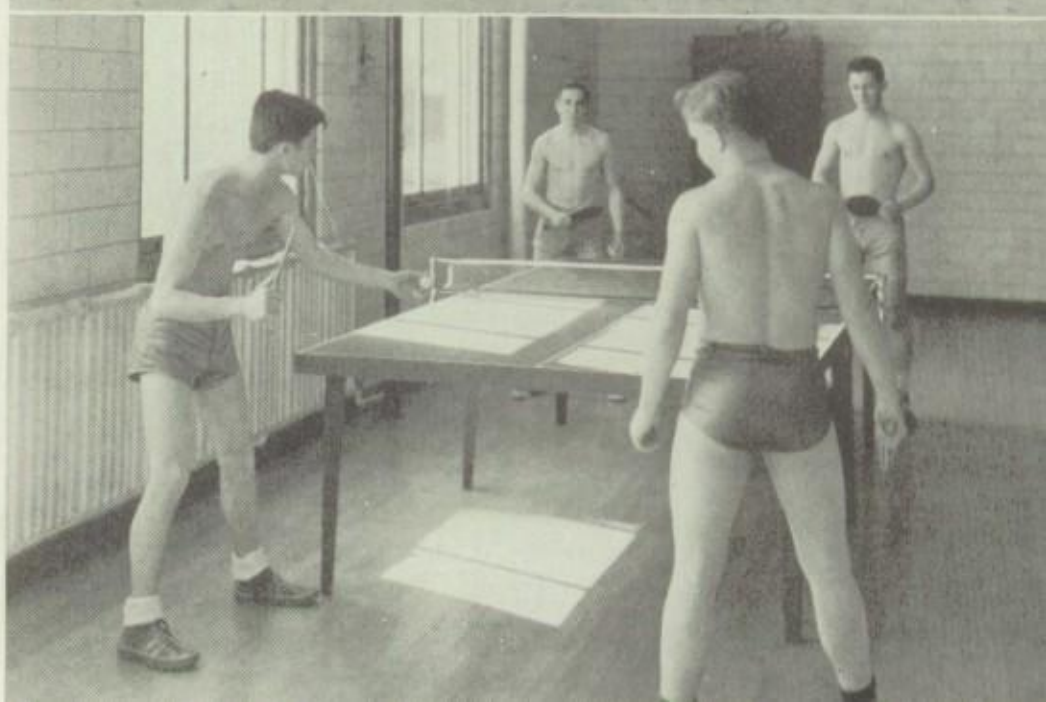
Instruction in swimming is given to those who need it while those who are more experienced learn various strokes and dives in the Kenmore Senior High School. Equipped with high and low diving boards, the pool is suitable not only for school classes but also for meets and aquacades.

First row: Gruntz; W. Murray.
Second row: Ruppel (on board facing this way).
Third row: McCabe (end of board).

Ringside seats at intramural boxing this season would have revealed a group of twenty-four boys learning not only "how to take care of themselves" but also how to keep in good physical condition. Ranging from flyweight to heavyweight, boys met weekly under the direction of Mr. Charles Marlak, new faculty member.

First row: C. Chotoff; Stoner.
Second row: Jacobs.

Although only one singles tournament was held this year, nearly twenty-five boys attended intramural ping pong, advised by Mr. Chester Bollier, gym instructor. Lasting over a period of two months, the season ended with the tournament, the winner of which, Rodney Anderson, was selected by the process of elimination.



First row: J. Schifferli; Schley.
Second row: E. Bleyle; Joe Sweeney.

You're a redhead
You're a million
Oh - Annie

Dear Annie;

You're such a nice kid, and we have had such a good time this term that I'm going to miss you something awful. I believe you will get places, honey, because you catch on to different things so fast (that includes men as well as work). I doubt very, very much if I shall ever forget you because you have been so good to me. You have helped me in my studies and when I have felt low you always had a big smile and a good joke ready for me, of course, cheering me to great heights. Yes, Annie, we have gone through a great deal together — but I wouldn't change any of it for the whole Kenmore building, which is really something! You truly are a redhead in a million who I think Oceans of Love
